LETTER FROM HON. JAMES B. CLAY.-We have received the reply of the Hon. James B. Clay to the letters of Mr. J. F. Bullitt and Hon. J. Yrown, which were recently published in the ournal and Democrat. The late hour it reached us, and its length did not permit its publication to-day. It will appear in the Courier of to-mor-

man by the name of Matthews, who lives in Jef-fersonville, and is respectably connected, had his head spilt open with a hatchet yesterday. He was iutoxierted, and we are told went to the nouse of Theodosia Bowes, on Green street, be, tween Preston and Jackson. The woman warned him to leave, and as he wouldn't, she thought she would throw a damper upon him in the shape of a pail of water. This application did not cool him enough, for he then forced the por open. She repelled this assault upon her Matthews was taken to Dr. Pyles' office, where his wounds were dressed, and he was thence re moved to a suitable place. His injuries are rightful, and will probably cause his death. The woman is in jail.

GUNS, PISTOLS, KNIVES, AND FISHING TACKLE. This is a military age, and fights are prevalent if not popular. The old Kentucky style of a fair fight when not a free one, is discarded. It has a place only in the annals of our earlier history. We wear not even its remembrance in our bosoms, but pistols and bowie knives, and these are dangerous weapons when in danger-ous hands. But guns, pistols, and knives are useful in their way, and those who would use them well, our neighbors, Dickson & Gilmore will accommodate. They have the finest and highest price guns, pistols of all kinds, single revolvers, or that used in the duello. Also, knifes warranted to cut well, and fishing tackle to suit every sportsman. POST-OFFICE,

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Sept. 3, 1860. §

Editors Louisville Courrier: I noticed in the "Louisville Democrat," of Saturday last, the following contemptible allusion to my official acts as postmaster of this place. The article must have originated in a mind so blinded by political prejudice as to be incapable of telling truth, or doing a just act.

The Democrat says: "The Breckinridge postmaster of Jeffersonville, Ind., who was a strong Douglas man until lately, can't now distribute documents, franked, that are in favor of Douglas; he feels doubts about his duty in the premises which he doesn't feel in relation to documents on the other side; it is rather too much that a postoffice belonging to the people should be used to suppress information intended for them; let them see to it; Douglas appeals to the people."

In the first place, I have never, under any ciroking young man, a loafing stranger, named people."

In the first place, I have never, under any circumstance, refused to distribute any documents that have come to this office; but I have relused to send them from this office through the mail free, when I believed it would be in viola-ion of law I have sworn to obey; and this I have done without giving preference to any oarty. I am not "in doubt about my duty in the premises," but believe the law to be so plain "that he who runs may read." In "Chap. 18, Sec. 237, Regulations of the Postoffice Department," it will be found to read thus: The Palestine Advocate of Aug. 22d says that n Friday last, Wm. Stanton, of Anderson coun-

In "Chap, Is, Sec. 237, Regulations of the Postoffice Department," it will be found to read thus:

"If any letter or paper be put into a postoffice bearing the frank of a privileged person, who notariously has not been in that vicinity for several days, it is the duty of the postmaster to treat them as unpaid."

Documents have been put into this office by persons living here, bearing the frank of persons who are not and never have been in this place, and, in obedience to the above instructions, I have "treated them as unpaid."

These documents were then taken to the Louisville postoffice and sent through the mail. The Democrat says this must be seen to—"Douglas appeals to the people." I would, howers, refer them to the above extract from the Regulations of the Postoffice Department, and then let them appeal to their "higher law. It is common in this vicinity for Douglas orators, when defending their "Squatter dogma," to say that it is a right inherent in the people; "that they don't get it from the Constitution—netfrom the laws of Congress—that it is a patent from God Almighty." Probably, in this case, they may be able to convince some one that they have a similar patent to sand electioneering documents through the mail without paying postage.

Now, Messrs. Editors, I desire to say to the Messrs. Editors, I desire to say to the Now, Messrs. Editors, I desire to say to the Democrat, or its informant, that the assertion "that I was, until recently, a Douglas man," is inqualifiedly faise, without paliation or justifi-ation. Respectfully, yours, &c. W. W. CALDWELL, P. M.

THREE MEN KILLED AND THE LIFE OF AN-THER ENDANGERED BY FOUL AIR IN A WELL .he Pittsburg Post of Friday gives the follow-I account of the death of three men, in Alle eny City, from foul air in a well:

Alfred Bottles, William, his brother, and Jas. r of the beer hall of Herman Hendal, corner Federal street and Center alley, on a lot own-by John Chislett, Eaq., of the Allegheny metery, from whom Hendal had leased. The cet was to drain a privy vault, and the well so dug thirteen feet deep, close to the vault, red bottles, about four o'clock, descended to the well by a ladder, and made a hole in the dit six feet from the ground, to drain off the tents. When he thought the hole was ough he stooped to look, when the foul air in vault came out, suffocating him, and he fell m the ladder to the bottom of the well, where filth poured down upon him. Vance, seeing Ito the bottom. Wm. Bottles next went wn to the assistance of the others, and shared esame fate. By this time there was a foot or ore of liquidin the well, and those undermost, lifed Bottles and Vanee, were partially cover with it. At this juncture, John Taggart, ardner for Mr. Wilson, at Shousetown Lane, tho was in a store on Federal street, receiving ay for some articles he had sold, heard of the ecident, and hastening to the spot, jumped into he well, to save, if possible, the lives of the hree sufferers. William Bottles had been in he well some five minutes. Mr. Taggart was overcome, in like manner with the rest, and fell over Wm. Bottles, forcing his head partially under the fluid in the well.

Alfred Bottles and James Vanee were dead when taken out, and Taggart expired soon after being carried into a house adjacent. Wm. Bottles was taken to a house in Federal street, where Dr. Elliott was called to see him. The crowd pressed so that it was found necessary to remove him to his residence on Killbuck street, near Corry, Allegheny. Dr. Elliott visited him there, and was of opinion, last evening, that he might recover.

Left Washington, D. C., some time in July, to go home to his mother in New York. He has not yet reached his mother, who is very anxious about him. He has been seen in Philadelphia, New York city, Hartford, Ct., and at a clambake in Rhode Island. He has been heard from at Boston, Portland, Augusta, and Bangor, Me. From some expressions he has dropped, it is feared he has become insane upon a subject he calls "Popular Sovereignty."

He is about five feet nothing in height, and about the same in diameter the other way. Has a red face, short-legs, and large belly. Answers to the name of "Little Glant." Talks a great deal, and very loud—always about himself. Has an idea that he is a candidate for the Presidency. Grand Lodges of Kentucky and New York
Compared.—The territory of Kentucky covers 37,680 square miles. The number of Lodges working within this territory is 208. The population of Kentucky is about 1,200,050; the number of members of Lodges is 10,957. The territory of New York covers 45,000 square miles.
The number of Lodges is 442. The population about 4,000,000, and the number of members of Lodges 23,746. According to the square miles and population of each State, the number of Lodges in Kentucky is much greater than in New York. The number of Lodges in Kentucky is about one-sixth greater than those s something less than one third greater than hat of New York. - [Rev. J. M. McJilton.

The only charge Douglas men make against Breckinridge is that he is the tool of disunionists. They won't call him a disunionist, but they say these Southern men are. Well, we ask these Douglas men, what do the people of the South demand? Do they go beyond the Constitution and ask more? We think not. All the aggression has come from the North. The Republican party has made unjust and unconstitutional demands—the South for the sake of peace has borne till forbearance has almost ceased to be a virtue. The party which Mr. Breckinridge represents makes no unreasonable demand—it simply says we are willing to live under the Constitution—to obey the decision of the Supreme Court, and act like law-abiding of hat of New York.—[18]
BITTEN BY A RATTLESNAKE.—A Miss Maggie

Thursday of last week, but her physicians pronounce her now out of danger. She was about to cross a fence on which the snake was lying.
It was a concealed on a rail that the girl did to cross a fence on which the snake was lying. It was so concealed on a rail that the girl did not observe is until not oursed its fangs in her wrist, where it held until she shook it off. She then with great presence of mind bandaged her arm, which was rapidly swelling, and very painful, and hastened to a neighboring house, where various remedies were applied to destroy the poison and restore the suffering girl. She was alone when the occurrence took place.

A number of Douglas squatters in Kentucky went to the polls on the 6th of Augustand voted for a Know Nothing caucus nominee, a bitter Opposition partisan, aided to elect him to the best office in the State, went to Louisville, explicted with the Bell men over the result, and then net together and assumed to be the Democratic party of Kentucky! Whoever heard of such brazen impudence? Men who voted for a Know Nothing nominee, joined the Opposition in glorification over an Opposition victory, and then set up claim to the organization and name of the party—reading out such men as Boyd, and Hise, and Powell, and Breckintidge, and Magoffin, and others, whom the Democracy of When Mrs. B., the actress, was making a summer excursion in the country, she was accompanied by her husband and a party of his and her friends. One of these was Mr. —, formerly a pilot on the Boston station, who had laughed and grown fit so long, that he had became like Woolsey, a "man of unbounded stomach." Some one asked, "Who is this large man in Mrs. B.'s suite?" "That", said his informant, "is Mr. ——; he is a pilot." "Exactly," was the response, "I should think he was—pauncheous Filate!" Magoffin, and others, whom the Democracy of Kentucky have preferred to high places. Such proceedings can but excite the sneer of con-tempt from true Democrats.

A QUESTION.—Was the Douglas platform at Charleston added to or subtracted from at Baltimore—if any additional resolution was appended, we would like to know the reason why? We hope some Douglasite will answer this question.

OUR COPRESPONDENCE.

A Good Letter from Carroll County. CARROLLTON, Ky., Aug. 29, 1880. Editors Louisville Courier: This being Circuit came quate a number of distinguished orators from a distance, who have been callightening the people on the political issues of the day.

Ever since the Democracy held their Breckinridge and Lane radification meeting, the fluglemen of the Douglas Squatter organization have been threatening us with the arrival of Mr.
Archie Dixon, who they said would annihilate any one who mightloppose him and make Squatter Sovereignty so plain that Douglas himself might understanal it.

Well, Monday came but Archie didu't, and it is well for him that he did not, for, to the joy of the whole country, Hon. Humphrey Marshall, the leviathan of constitutional right and privilege, was on hand, ready to do battle in the glorious cause of Breckinridge and Lane. Hon, O. P. Hogan, of Grant, had made an appointment for that day, and at 2 P. M. he proceeded to address the large crowd assembled in the Court House yard. He is a self-made man, dresses in the common garb of a farmer, and has the faculty of telling a thing in such a plain,

The First District is all right for Breckinridge, and even in Ballard county, the stronghold of Squatterism, we will give Breckinridge a majority over both Douglas and Bell.

We have had but one Breckinridge speech in Ballard county as yet; but a Democratic club was organized here this evening, and arrangements will soon be entered into for a Breckinridge and Lane mass meeting.

When we reflect that Combs carried this district, we feel that we have not done our duty.—
We shall take a lesson from the past, and awake to a double diligence in battling for Breckinride and Lane, "the Constitution and the equality of the States." There are twenty-five hundred voters in this district who did not go to the polls on the first Monday, and two thousand of them at least will vote in November next for Breckinridge and Lane. We intend to make a bold fight for our standard-bearers, and if every Democrat in other districts will but resolve to do his daty,

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 30, 1860.

Editors Louisville Courier: I send along with this a copy of the Examiner. There is a very good article in it copied from the True Virginian, on the fusion. I only offer this as a suggestion, as Louisville is Dougias' stronghold in Kentucky—so considered here.

Breckinridge and Lane are very strong here, and all over Virginia, notwithstanding Douglas is stumping the State, and talking about what "I will do," and "what I did and said." I has very evidently injured his cause and strengthened Breckinridge. He intends to address us here to-morrow night, and I expect that he will be met by Wise—if so the fur will fly from somewhere, sure. be met by Wise—if so the fur will fly from some-where, sure.

I have just returned from a trip through the western part of the State, and the Tenth Legion, the stronghold of Democracy in Virginia, and I find that Douglas is very much weaker there than I had anticipated.

In some three or four counties in the moun-tains, Bath, Pocahontas, Fayette, and Rock-bridge, I was scarcely able to find a Douglas man, and I was informed by Col. Perrell, a prom-inent zentleman of Bath. that there were not

Nobody here but the wild go against her settled policy of Southern States rights and equal rights in the Territories. The Bell-Everetts have been crowing and getting up some spurious enthusiasm over the late unfortunate (apparently) election in Kentucky, and you would think from the noise here in Richmond that there was not a corporal's guard of Democrats in the city; but they have forgotten

I must say my vanity was flattered by seeing my name printed in the paper, with some things I said, and some I didn't say, and we've kept the papers ever since. After all, every-body likes a little fame, but some are satisfied with a smaller amount than others. Well, I have not the editor any more to set me out, so I have been thinking I would just try and see if you would not put me in the Rural on my own hook—especially as I want to tell you all about my going to the State Fair, at Buffalo, the other day. The brig Creole, Capt. Forbister, arrived at this port last evening from Ruatan Island, the 17th inst. She reports that the bark Active, a small coaster which plies between the Bay Islands and the main land, arrived at Port Me-Donald late in the evening of the 15th, from Truxillo, bringing "a load of passengers and word that the town was to be attacked that night by a strong force from aback (i. e. the country around). The Carib is expected over to-day with other passengers."

Upon inquiry, we learn this in explanation: That the friends of Guardiola had assembled in considerable force, but by no means threatening numbers, outside the city, soon after Walker took possion of it, for the declared purpose of attacking it. This frightened a great many ig-

We got safely to town on Monday night, and Tuesday I went up to the Fair grounds to see what was going on. I got, in and hunted up Sam, and found he'd got the mare entered, and had got his card on her head, and a good stail, and all things comfortable. The animal arrangements were first-rate generally, and during all the time of the Fair the supply of fodder was good. Ithink that Maj. Patrick, who was everybody in managing things, a trump sort of a man. took possion of it, for the declared purpose of attacking it. This frightened a great many ignorant and timid people, who applied to General Walker for protection, and the General, in order to reassure them, told them they had better go overto Ruatan Island, where they would certainly be safe. And taking him at his word, they had actually proceeded thither, as stated, in considerable numbers.

Nevertheless, we are assured on the best authority that it was all a false alarm, that no attack was really meditated upon the town, and that in any case, which seems probable, Walker, from his position and the means at his disposal, would be able to make at all times the most successful defense.

As I was standing up near the business office in the crowd, I heard a couple of men talking about premiums. One said to the other:
"Are you an exhibitor?"

"Why so?"

"You see the Committees are never all full, and if you are on hand at the big tent when they are called, it's easy to slipin afriend, which is a mighty nice thing sometimes.

"Well, I am showing a patent for making cowcumbers, and if you can get the premium it will make my fortune."

"And I am showing a new kind of bob-tailed hens, and a premium won't set me back."

"Well, you get me on to your committee, and I will name you for mine."

"All right; go in to win when you can."

Thinks I, perhaps if that's the way the thing leans, I may as well take care of myself as any one eise. Everybody for himself seems to be the rule on these occasions. So off I streaked to the cattle pens to find Smith, who is my neighbor, you know. Smith is in the patent bull line. [Mr. P. evidently means "improved."] Says I, "Smith, you're showing bulls, and I am showing old Nance, and I guess if merit counts we can win. And that's the talk here on paper." The al told him what I'd heard about the committee.

Then I told him that we must be up at the tent in time.

Well, sure enough, when the committees were made up, I was on Smith's bull committee, and he was on the mare committee.

THE COMMITTEE GOES CUT.

The head man took the book, as had the things in it, and we were all introduced to each other, and went down to look at the bulls. We were on the red bulls. So we went along and looked at them, and I didn't say much till we came to Smith's bull, and I looked at him pretty carefully, pulled his tail, punched my fingers into his ribs, and went through the motions, as I had seen the others. Says I, "thar's a bull that looks like it." Smith had combed him all over with a fine-toothed comb, and brushed him with a hair brush, and he did look slick, for he was just as fat as a hog. And from all I saw, I think fat at Fairs, like what the lawyer said about charity, covers a multitude of sins.

"What do you know about bulls?"
"Well," says I, "I think I know what they are used for in my section."
"May be," says he, "you are on the committee?"
"have that honor," says I.

"Well," says I, "he had father and mother, didn't he?"
"Oh! yes, but then nobody knows who they

"On: yes, our near were."
"Well, then nobody knows but they were just as likely as your bull's parents."
"But, sir, look at my bull's pedigree. There it is, sir. Got by imported Shirt-tail, out of Skim-milk, by Thunder," &c.; and he showed a strang of names as long as your arm. "Well," says I to the committee, "are we to judge the pedigree or the animal?"
And they said, "the animal, of course."
"Then," said I to the fellow, "will your bull get better stock than this?"
"Of course he will," says he, "for he's got a pedigree, and that bull hain't."
"Well," says I, "your bull has got somebody to brag for him, and the other hasn't, that's certain." And that sort o' knocked him.—
"But," says I, "I've known people who felt grand over their pedigree, and I've seen a heap of people who coulon't go 'urther back than their father and mother that banged them all to pieces for smartness. Handsome is that handsome does," says I, "and, as the hymnbook says, 'a man's a man for a' that. Pedigree go to grass, I go in for the animal."

SMITH'S BULL WINS.

When we got through and looked at our marks, the other two had Smith's bull second. I had him first. So we talked it over, and finally, as they did not care much about it, they altered the figures, and gave Smith the first premium, which I think was right.

Smith had a great time over old Nance. It turned out that each of the other two committeemen had friends whose marcs were to be judged, and they pretty soon picked out their favorites. So he kept still and let them talk, and they soon got into a quarrel, and then they appealed to Crescent of the 23d inst.: Last Saturday Mr. Leclere, proprietor of a restaurant at Milneburg, was deserted by his head steward and managing man, a Spaniard named Garcia, brother of the Garcia who was killed some time ago by Princeval, in a fight which they had appointed on the Bayou St. John shell road. Mr. Leclere might not have mourned the Spaniard's French departure, had not his wife, a young and pretty woman, or rather girl, to whom he had been wedded about a haif year, and $1,500 in cash disappeared at the same time, as the comfort and solace of his treacherous employee. Mr. Leclere found that the fugitives had taken passage on the French ship Havre for Havre, which cleared that day, and was to leave in the evening. In a state of high excitement he rushed to the levee, and boarded the ship just as the towboat was hitching on to take her away, and he espied the villain Garcia in the disguise of a sailor. Drawing hie cane sword and going at him, he said, "Give me back my wife and money, or I'll have your POLICE COURT. GEORGE W. JOHNSTON, JUDGE. MONDAY, September 3, 1860

Some member of the grand jury then asked the witness to look around and state whether the suspected thief was present. He carefully essmined every countenance in the room, and swore positively that the horse thief was sitting behind the table, pointing to a respectable member of the jury. The jurors, knowing the high character for integrity sustained by the gentleman pointed out, who is a respectable and estimable citizen of Lebanon, after recovering from their astonishment, at once discharged the witness and ignored the bill against Hall. This singular affair caused considerable amusement among the people of Lebanon, at the expense of the very respectable gentleman who was mistaken for a horse thief.

The True Policy of the Friends of the Union.

We have a high opinion of the personal character and the political integrity of Mr. Lincoln, the Republican candidate for the Presidency, and we feel a sort of kindness for the Republican party of Indiana from the fact that a large number of our old political friends and associates belong to it, far more, we are sure, than belong to the Democratic party of that State.

If saying the above was from the Journal, we

If, saying the above was from the Journal, we were to stop there, we might make an impres sion calculated to do our neighbor injustice though for such a course we believe we could plead a precedent set by both our city contempo raries. But we never expect to so far forget what is due ourself and others as to resort to such a method of annoying an opponent or of serving a friend.

We do not believe any number of the old Whigs of Kentucky will agree with the Journal, so far as to confess to a "sort of kindness" for the Black Republicans of Indiana or of any other State because those who were formerly with them in opposition to Democrac deserted Whiggery to enlist under the black flag of Northern fanaticism, even though such confession be coupled, as it is in this case. with the expression of a conviction that the defeat of the Lincolnites is "indispensable to the peace and permanence of the country." We cannot conceive how a "sort of kindness" can be entertained for those whose existence is in imical to the safety of the country, and whose success would be destructive of our institutions. Towards all such, it seems to us, but on eeling-that of determined, persistent, unremitting hostility-can be, or should be held .-

mitting hostility—can be, or should be held.—
To the above extract the Journal adds:

—Yet we are deeply and solemnly impressed with the conviction that the defeat of the Republican party of the nation, in the approaching Presidential election is indispensable to the peace and permanence of the country. The Republican party is a sectional party, it is a party of agitation, and it is nothing else. It desires agitation, for only in agitation it can breathe and move and live. It dreads peace, for peace would involve its dissolution and death. Its Presidential candidate, as we have already had occasion to say, proclaims to the country that agitation cannot terminate now, that it cannot terminate at all while slavery exists, that it must and will go raging on through the far-coming time until slavery shall perish from the land. And Senator Seward, the leader, the head, the soul, the life, the founder of the party, standing up in the presence of the nonle of Boston, and senation the senation of the party, standing up in the presence of the nonle of Boston, and senations. Seward, the leader, the head, the son, the her before of the party, standing up in the presence of the people of Boston, and speaking for Mr. Lincola, proclaims that Mr. L. confesses his obligation to that "higher law" which overrides the obligation of all human laws where slavery is concerned, and that he avows himself, for weal or wo, for life or death, a soldier in that irrepressible conflict between freedom and that irrepressible conflict between freedom and slavery which can cease only when there is no

This is, indeed, "a fearful portraiture of the principles, the feelings, the designs, the determinations" of the Black Republican party. And however it may be with others, we can never. neverfeel "a sort of kindness" for the soldiers "in that irrepressible conflict between freedom and slavery which can cease only when there is no slavery on earth." We can never "endure" those who war upon our rights, our institutions, our property; but the organ of the Oppposition, knowing full well their fell purposes, and painta vividness and a faithfulness worthy of its genius, seems almost ready to cap the climax with a hearty "embrace."

We warn the people of Kentucky of the danger with which they are threatened. We com-mend the Journal's picture of Black Republicanism and of Black Republicans to the Opposition of this state. We tell them that it is perilous to give place to any "kind feelings" in their bosoms for these destructives. They are enemies of Kentucky, of the slave States, of the people of the South, of the Constitution of the country, and of the peace and happiness of the nation-they should be treated as foes-they should be met with a bold and resolute defiance they must be told "thus far shalt thou go, and no farther." It is the part of honor, of safety, of patriotism thus to meet the soldiers of this hellish crusade, this infamous and unholy war. No mistaken concessions, no mawkish sympathy, no unreciprocated kindness, no weakness or wavering will change their purposes or retard their movements. Standing upon the Coustitution, standing upon the equality of the States, standing upon our honor and our manhood, standing upon the justice of our cause, we must discard all "acts of kindness" until the army of aggression is disbanded-then we may bind up the bruises and pour oil on the wounds of those who fell in the conflict.

We invite attention to the Journal's "fearful portraiture" of the ends and aims of Black Reolicanism. Read it, men of Kentucky! read t, members of the Union party! read it, every-ody, and say whether we shall best protect ourselves by ignoring all their purposes, and plots, and plans, as the Bell platform does; or by meeting them half-way as the Douglasites pro pose; or by firmly, frankly, fearlessly, and determinedly encountering them as the Demo-cratic party does. Under the black flag of the enemy, were arrayed, in, 1856, one million, three hundred and forty-one thousand, five hundred and fourteen men! No same man believes, and no nonest man will assert, that their numbers have decreased since then. That number of men then, at least, are now united together in a cause in which their success, the Journal admits is inevitable destruction to the "peace and permanence of the country." With that enemy for those in arms against us—to ignore the principles and measures they advocate—to yield our strong positions—to preach a wavering halting, hesitating policy? What would be thought of the general who would thus defend his country against a formidable, well-drilled, determined foe? Would he not be stigmatized as a traitor or branded as a coward? Opposed to this party is that of the National

At the late hour at which we write we shall not attempt to recapitulate the points made by either of the speakers. Col. Polk wound up, we will observe, however, by scattering a few secession seeds among his andience, with a view to a future harvest, in certain contingencies.—
He stated boldly that in the event of Framont's election, he was opposed to, and would regret to see the assembling of another American Congress! He claborated this idea to some extent, talking buncombe very much after the fashion, as we thought, of certain orators of Nashville Convention notoriety. It was not a little remarkable that the only indication of a shout elicited during Col. Polk's whole opening speech arose at this point, though we were well pleased to see that it was very faint. follows: That it was one half lighter than metal, mo cleanly, and that they were more certain of getting a perfect fit of the mouth. They now go further, and say that it is much stronger than sets on metal, and less liable to be injured by accident, while the low price bringsit within the reach of all. Believing that their efforts to give the best work at small profits will be appreciated, they have determined on a reduction of their prices. To substantiate the above they pledge themselves to replace with gold, without ex-tra charge, any set on Vulcanite that fails in any one particular as set forth above. They still put up th gold work for those who desire it. Office next door to the Cathedral, Fifth stree

DAILY COURIER.

A Perilous Adventure. tleman and his wife from Jersey City net with a perilous adventure last week, on Wednesday, at the White Mountain Notch.— They had ascended Mount Willard on foot, whose summit is but two miles from the Craw Mount Willey, which is 2500 feet in hight. The hen commenced to descend Mount Willey. The had proceeded downward some 600 feet, when solved to return, but found it was impossible den. They were reduced to the alternative either keeping on, or waiting where they were until they should be missed and searched for.

saw them from the road, in their dangerous situation, and reported it at once. Restoratives were given, and they were assisted into the wagon and brought back, with bodies completely exhausted, their hands considerably lacerated and their clothing badly torn. Both are persons of much nerve. They are well to-day, although suffering from weakness. The mountain guides say they do not understand how they got down alive, particularly the lady. Had they returned from Mount Willerd, they could have made the descent in about twenty minutes.

Length of Service of our Leading States

John Quiney Adams was Minister to the Netherlands, under Washington, 1794-96; Minister to Portugal, 1786-7; Minister to Prussia during the administration of his father, 1797-1803; Senator, 1803-8; Minister to Russia, under Madison, 1804-18; Commissioner to Ghent, 1813-14; Minister to Engiand, 1815-17; Secretary of State, under Monroe, 1817-24; President, 1824-20; and member of Congress from 1831 to 1847, the date of his death. Thus, in a period of 53 years, the intervals between the laying down of one office and the assumption of another, amount, when added together, to less than two years.

The official career of General Lewis Cass has been even longer than that of Mr. Adams. Commencing as a member of the first State Legislature of Ohio, in 1809, he has been in high public position ever since, a period of 58 years. Within that time he has been Governor of a Territory, Indian Superintendent, Secretary of War, Minister to France, United States Senator for twelve years, candidate for President, and Secretary of State's Department in 1851, he will complete a service of about 60 years in the high offices of the Government. He is, indeed, the patriarch of our statesmen, so far as length of official service is concerned.

Martin Van Buren, while he has not been in office as long as some of our statesmen, is the only one who has filled the four highest, most dignified and powerful positions under the American Constitution. He has been Minister to England, Secretary of State, Vice-President and President. His public life commenced in 1803, as surrogate of the State, Vice-President and President. He was constantly before the people as an important personage down to his retirement from the President not to say that his public career then closed, for he was a prominent candidate for President not to say that his public career then closed, for he was a prominent candidate for President in 1848.

Henry Clay's public career commenced in 1807 as a member of the States of the san bendoit in President in 1848.

Thomas H. Benton served a longer period in Congress than any other of our public men.—
He entered the United States Senate when Missouri was admitted, in 1821, and continued there until 1851; a period of 36 years. He never held any other office. until 1851; a period of 35 years. He never held any other office.

John C. Calhoun entered the House of Representatives in 1811; served there until 1817, when he became Secretary of War under Mr. Monroe. In 1824 he was elected Vice-President, and re-elected in 1828. In 1831 he resigned the station of Vice-President to become a United States Senator from South Carolina. The reason of this extraordinary step was that he might champion the cause of nullification in the Senate, and reply to the arguments of Mr. Webster on that subject, which were producing an extraordinary effect on the country. He continued in the Senate until 1844, when he became Secretary of State under John Tyler. In 1845 he reentered the Senate, and was a member of it in 1850, when he died.

Daniel Webster came to the House of Representatives in 1814 from New Hampshire. In 1820 he was elected from Boston, Mass., to which city he had removed. In 1828 he was elected to the United States Senate. In 1841 was Secretary of State. In 1845 he was again a Senator. In 1850 he again took charge of the Department of State, and filled that position at the time of his death. His political career lasted about 36 years.

A Haunted House — Musical Ghost — Strange Experiences.

Just this side of the bridge over Smith's Branch, in the lower part of the city, is asmall, old, unoccupied house. We should not say unoccupied—but not occupied by human beings. But it seems that spirits of the other world are abroad, and we are informed that they appear to have taken up their abode temporarily in this little shell. Our informant is a man who says he lives down in that neighborhood. He states that, besides himself, the substance of the story he gave us is known to at least two or three he gave us is known to at least two or three other persons.

About a week ago, passing there late at night —after midnight, in fact—our informant was startled by a sound much like that of a violin, played very lightly and slowly. He stopped a moment, when the tune became more lively, and continued for about two minutes. He thinks it might have been heard perhaps four or five rods—not more. As soon as it ceased, he went up to the house and looked in. All was silent, and no human being was to be seen. At first he saw nothing—then in one corner gradually grew the dim outline of a female face with long hair hanging around it. He owns that he was frightened, and cannot exactly tell what occurred during the next moment. He has a faint recollection of running as fast as his legs could carry him—of hearing his name called two or three times in a strangely musical but uncarthly voice—and there his knowledge of events ceases.

On Monday night last he resolved to test the e gave us is known to at least two or thr voice—and there his knowledge of events ceases.

On Monday night last he resolved to test the truth of his senses, by a little investigation. At I o'clock he repaired to the neighborhood of the house, and sat down to listen and observe. An hour he sat and neither saw nor heard anything. He remembered striking a match and looking at his watch—it was a few minutes after twelve. There he lost himself—a haze came before his eyes; he tried to rise, but could not; he tried to scream, but could not. This is all—When he came to his senses, he stood looking into the old house—he heard the music as before—at first could see nothing—was sure the melody came from somewhere not more than ten feet away—directly it ceased, and then in the corner again grew the outline of that womanly face—plainer and plainer, till he saw it as distinctly as he could see any one's face in broad day light. He was bolder this time, and stood looking at it till it faded away into the air. Then he took himself off as rapidly as possible. Since then he has made no further investigation. He is satisfied there is a ghost about the house. We leave our readers to place what credence they please in the story—he told it as though it were true.—[Alton Courier, 25th.

A New Postage Stamp. The New York Post, speaking of the new postage stamps of the denomination of ninety cents, says:

The ninety-cent postage stamps so anxiously looked for by our merchants, have been forwarded by the department, and are now for sale at the postofilee. The center of the stamp has a representation of Washington, taken from a portrait executed at the time when he resigned the command of the army, and differs materially from all other likenesses of him. The color of the ground is blue, presenting anything but a handsome appearance. As these stamps are to be affixed to foreign letters only, we may suppose that they will not elicit a very high encomium upon our style of engraving. The stamps now in use are of the following denomination: one, three, five, ten, twelve, twenty-four, thirty and ninety cents. The amounts that are generally paid on foreign letters not covered by the above, are—fifteen, twenty-seven and fitty-four cents, for which a combination of the stamps now supplied will suffice.

At a late ball in Paris, a very stout gentleman, proprietor of a bad catarrh, and a very charming wife, insisted, very inconveniently, at the close of a polka, that madame should return to the bosom of her family. "Never mind," said she to her partner, "ask me to dance in the next quadrille all the same—I will find a way to stay for it." Slipping out while thesets were forming, she went into the gentlemen's dressing room, found her husband's hat and threw it out of the window. Then returning, and requesting her spouse to first find his hat and then cail the carriage, she accepted partners for the next six dances, quite sure of two hours before the hat could be found.

THE RIVER was rising very little yesterday barely an inch in twenty-four hours, with four feet ten inches water in the canal by the mark at dark. The weather was cloudy, with a light rain in the morning, and warm in the evening. At Pittsburg yesterday morning, as we learn by private telegraphic dispatch, the river was falling with only three feet nine inches in the channel. That is a very low tide, but we wouldn't be surprised in the text twenty-four hours to hear of another big rise up

At Cincinnati the river was slowly falling yester day, and we expect it to be falling here to-day.

The B. J. Adams, hence for New Orleans, pass ed Cairo Sunday evening, all right, as we learn by special dispatch from F. B. Moody, the clerk. He eports the lower river falling, with only four feet six neches water on the shoalest bars. The river here, at the head of the falls, has risen altogether in the past few days fourteen inches. That would make some three feet at Portland, but by the time it extended to the lower part of the river, it would not make over one foot of a rise on the bars. The last Pittsburg rise ought to extend to this quar-

OFFICE OF DAILY COURIER, MONDAY EVENING, September 3, 1860. There was a much larger demand for Money to-day and some of the houses reported a larger deman than the supply, while others took all the first clas paper offering. Upon the whole, the supply and deand may be quoted about equal. Financial affairs to-day showed signs of stringency, and from out-siders we heard of several complaints on account of not being able to negotiate for loans. The exchange parket was quiet, with a fair demand for Eastern market was quiet, with a fair demand the based of the by premium. New Orleans sight is quiet, and rates are lower. We quote at par to ¼¢ premium, the inside being the ruling figure. The only change we have to note in the general market is an increased firmness on the part of hold-ers of Flour. The news from the East is favorable, which has caused an advance here of fully 5¢ P bl We quote at $5@$5 75 for superfine and extra, and $6@$7 for fancy family brands. The receipts of Wheat continue large, and all that arrives is readily taken by millers and dealers at $1@$1 10 for prime red and white, and $1 15 for choice white Kentucky. There was a fair demand for Corn, with fair sales at 30@65¢ for mixed and prime white shelled, sacks included. The market for Oats is firm, and they are much in demand. Prices have slightly advanced, and we quote at 40¢ from store, and dealers are readioffering 33@35¢ for new from wagons. The receipts are very light, and not near equal to the de-Groceries were firm and buoyant, with but a sma bome demand for Sugar at 9@9%. There was a fair inquiry for Molasses, and to-day some 200 bbls were sold to go out of the market, and small sales to the home trade at 42% 43%. Coffee was firm and steady at 15% 416%. The stock of Groceries which we published in yesterday's paper, embraces the whole stock, in first and second hands.

Provisions were very firm but quiet, with a small inquiry for Bacon on Southern orders at 10, 12%, 13% and 13% for Shoulders, Rib Sides, Clear Rib, and Clear Sides. Mess Pork was firm at $20. The cause of such light transactions during the past few days has been the fact that the Louisville and Nashville railroad company have been receiving no freight.— They have at last got things pretty well removed, and to-morrow they will commence receiving through freight. To-day they commenced receiving way freight, and before night the depot was full. In regard to the markets at Cincinnati, we take following from the Gazette of to-day:

the following from the Gazette of to-day.

In our general markets on Saturday, business was light. There was a stand off in the Flour trade, there being a difference of 106615; $\vec{9}$ bbl between buyers and sellers. The former were willing to pay $5 for good brands of superfine, but the latter asked $5 106$5 15. Extra washeld at $5 256$5 50, and fancy $5 756$5 25. The receipts were 1,524 bbls, and the exports 1672 do.

We have no change to notice in wheat, which was bought sparingly at previous quotations, say $1 656$1 38 for prime red, and $1 186$2 12 20 for ditto white. The receipts were 1,549 bushels, and the exports 158 arrival. Rye dail at 55@68‡ in bulk, and Barley 65@75¢.

No change in Groceries. Provisions very quiet, and prices are in a measure nominal. There is no demand of consequence for any article. The stock of Pork in the New York inspection yards shows a steady reduction during the mouth of August, and it is not probable that there will be any considerable supplies there when the new season commences. We heard of only two transactions in hogs on Saturday, one of which was 1,000 head for the first fitten days in November, to average 240 hs, net, at $7, and the other was a lot of the same quality and for the same delivery, at $6 75. The first named figure may be regarded as a fancy price, and at even $6 75 there are not many buyers. Packers are beginning to regard the prices hitherto current as somewhat dangerous, and there is less disposition to buy in advance than there was a week ago. From the number of hogs that have already been sold for November delivery, it is evident that the demand for early meat, what have already been sold for November delivery, it is evident that the demand for early meat, whatever it may be, will be fully met, without any further exertions on the part of packers. It is estimated that 20,000 to 30,000 hogs have been sold, up to the present time, for delivery in this market in November, flity 29 7 of which are deliverable the first half of the month.

FLOUR AND GRAIN-Sales of 1,120 barrels Flour at $5 25: 150 bbls at $5 50: 100 bbls at $5 75 240 bbls at $6; 110 bbls at $7; 2.630 bushels Wheat : $1@$1 10; 150 sacks St. Louis Corn at 62¢, sacks in cluded; 260 sacks white shelled at 65¢; 440 sack mixed at 63¢, sacks included, deliverable at depot
